NEW ARRIVALS

STAFF RESEARCHER

Federico Lelli

I am an astrophysicist from Ancona (Marche). I studied at the University of Bologna and obtained my Ph.D. degree from the University of Groningen in The Netherlands. Before joining the Arcetri Astrophysical Observatory, I worked at Case Western Reserve University (Cleveland, USA), the European Southern Observatory (Germany), and Cardiff University (UK). My main research interests include the formation and evolution of galaxies, the nature of dark matter, and alternative theories of gravity. In particular, I use multiwavelength observations (from the radio to the X rays) together with dynamical models to investigate the main constituents of galaxies: gas, stars, and the mysterious dark matter.

PhD STUDENT

Georgios Kyriakou

I come from Thessaloniki, Greece. I am a graduate of Electrical and Computer Engineering from AUTh, but I always had a passion for physics and astronomy as well. Currently, I am a PhD student at the University of Florence Physics and Astronomy programme and an INAF research fellow, supervised by Pietro Bolli. My main focus is on Computational Electromagnetism, antenna and microwave theory. In the past I have also been involved in a radioastronomy project at my university, bolstering cooperation between different departments to construct a simple L Band antenna.
